SOUTH AFRICAN PINOTAGE

South Africa is one of the world's perfect winegrowing areas: brilliant sunshine, rich soils, hot days and cool ocean breezes from all sides make for rich, intense grapes and equally wonderful wines.

From the lush slopes of Keeromsberg Mountains, the vineyards of Nuy, with their 2100 metre elevation are perfect for growing Pinotage, South Africa's secret weapon of wine quality.

Bred as a cross between Pinot Noir and the Rhône grape Cinsault, Pinotage makes a wine that echoes the delicacy and subtlety of its Burgundy parent, yet shows intense fruitiness and peppery spiciness. In addition to a rich plummy character and aromas of redcurrant and cherry, Pinotage is unique as a red wine in that it has a subtle aroma of banana in the finish. Although it ages very well, and mellows over several years, the engaging fruitiness makes it a good candidate for early drinking.

While a classic food match like biltong (antelope jerky) might be hard to get in your neighbourhood, the South African tradition of Braai (slow barbecue) is a splendid match for this robust wine, as are other red meat and game dishes.
